TEACHER-STUDENTS CLASSROOM INTERACTIONS OF PUBLIC SENIOR SECONDARY SCHOOLS III IN KATSINA METROPOLIS, NIGERIA.

Abstract: The paper investigates the teacher-student interactions during English lessons at SS III Public Schools of Katsina Metropolis. The reason that triggered the research was the mass failure of students especially at Senior Secondary Examinations. The paper used the constructivist theory as a theoretical framework. It also used teachers' and students' questionnaires, a Target Language Observation Scheme (TALOS) and audio recorded lessons in the schools observed as instruments for data collection. Six schools were examined out of twelve. A total number of 6 teachers and 132 students were selected as the sample of the study. All six teachers were observed, and the lessons were recorded at different times. Simple Frequency Counts and Percentages were the basis used for the analysis of the data collected. The findings revealed that teacher-student interactions need to be improved as teachers gave room for the students to participate in the interactions but unfortunately, they remained idle in the class. For this reason, most of the class activities were solely performed by the teachers. Keywords: Teacher-students, Classroom, Interactions, Target Language Observation Scheme

Comparison Between Urban and Rural of Anthropometry Indices in Women of Reproductive Age in Kano, Nigeria State.

Recently, new indices have been developed for better prediction of health status. This study aimed to compare the new indices of anthropometric measurements of women of reproductive age (WRA) in urban and rural settings in Kano state. A cross sectional descriptive community-based study was performed in 240 WRA (15-49 years) in 4 randomly selected Local Government Areas (LGAs) in urban and rural settings each. A structured questionnaire was used to collect information on socio-demographic characteristics. Anthropometric indices which include body adiposity index (BAI), abdominal volume index (AVI), Conicity index (CI), a body shaped index (ABSI), a body shaped index z score (ABSI z score), hip index (HI), body roundness index (BRI) and ponderal index (PI) were measured. Socio-demographic result shows that age, occupation and monthly income were found to be significantly associated between the urban and rural participants whereas education, number of children and pregnancy status were not significantly associated. Urban and rural participants had a significant association in BAI ($p=0.006$), AVI ($p=0.010$), HI ($p=0.030$), BRI ($p=0.003$) and PI ($p=0.002$). There were no significant association in CI ($p=0.219$), ABSI ($p=0.498$) and ABSI z score ($p=0.680$). Further investigation of these indices and their association with nutritional status and different diseases could assist in efforts to prevent unfavorable health conditions among women of reproductive health.

GLOBAL SALAFISM ISLAMS NEW RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT

What are the new Islamic movements? Contemporary revivalist currents include Jihadism; neo-Sufism, which cultivates Muslim spirituality; and classical fundamentalism, which stresses obedience to Sharia (Islamic law) and ritual observance.

What is the Salafism in Islam? Salafism: Salafism is the idea that the most authentic and true Islam is found in the lived example of the early, righteous generations of Muslims, known as the Salaf, who were closest in both time and proximity to the Prophet Muhammad.

What is the new religious movement? A new religious movement (NRM) is a religious, ethical, or spiritual group or community with practices of relatively modern origins. NRMs may be novel in origin or they may exist on the fringes of a wider religion, in which case they will be distinct from pre-existing denominations.

Which countries follow Salafism?

Is Islam the newest major religion? Islam, a monotheistic and Abrahamic religion, is the second largest faith in the world after Christianity, with about 1.8 billion Muslims worldwide. Though Islam's roots go back further, scholars typically date the creation of Islam to the 7th century, making it the youngest of the major world religions.

What is Wahhabism in Islam? For more than two centuries, Wahhabism has been Saudi Arabia's dominant faith. It is an austere form of Islam that insists on a literal interpretation of the Koran. Strict Wahhabis believe that all those who don't practice their form of Islam are heathens and enemies.

Is Mufti Menk a Salafi? Menk has been identified as a Deobandi as well as a Salafi.

Is Wahhabism same as Salafism? Ahmad Moussalli tends to agree Wahhabism is a subset of Salafism, saying "As a rule, all Wahhabis are salafists, but not all salafists are Wahhabis." Quintan Wiktorowicz asserts modern Salafists consider the 18th-century scholar Muhammed bin 'Abd al-Wahhab and many of his students to have been Salafis.

Who founded Salafism? Salafism originated in the mid to late 19th Century, as an intellectual movement at al-Azhar University, led by Muhammad Abduh (1849-1905), Jamal al-Din al-Afghani (1839-1897) and Rashid Rida (1865-1935).

What is the world rejecting new religious movement? The World Rejecting New Religious Movement (NRM) is one of Roy Wallis' three types of New Religious Movement. As the name suggests, their orientation to wider society is one of rejecting most of what that society stands for. Wallis' World Rejecting NRMs are closely related to Troeltsch's category of the sect.

Why do people join new religious movements? New religious movements provide an alternative family to the individual due to the strong sense of commitment and the community that they create.

Which is the fastest growing religion in the world? Studies in the 21st century suggest that, in terms of percentage and worldwide spread, Islam is the fastest-growing major religion in the world.

How is Salafism different from Islam? In Islam, Salafism is like Protestantism, and mainstream Sunni Islam is like Catholicism. Salafis believe that in the 1400 years since the Prophet Muhammad began the religion of Islam, mainstream Sunnis had gone astray, incorporating foreign beliefs, and corrupt practices into their religion.

Who is the father of Salafism? Most scholars regard Sayyid Qutb as the twentieth-century father of the political movement now called Salafi jihadism.

What are the three types of Salafism? Today, scholars broadly divide Salafism into three strands: quietist, activist, and jihadist. These categories offer a useful starting point for analysis, but it is important to note that the boundaries between the subdivisions are fluid and overlapping.

What is the fastest growing religion in Asia?

Which religion is most powerful in the world?

Which religion is growing fastest in Russia?

What are the Islamic awakening movements? Sahwa movement (Arabic: ??????, romanized: al-?a?wa) or al-Sahwa al-Islamiyya (Islamic awakening) was a movement in Saudi Arabia from 1960–1980 which advocated for incorporating more reliance on Wahhabi principles into Saudi society.

What is the new age movement in Islam? New Age Islam was established in April 2008 by a group of Muslims concerned that "the very word Muslim has become synonymous with terrorism, backwardness and ignorance." Its founders are mostly South Asian, some of them based in the Middle East, Europe, North America and Australia.

What are Islamic movements? Islamic Movement can refer to Islam or Islamism in general, or to any of several religious or political organizations: Islamic Movement of Afghanistan. National Islamic Movement of Afghanistan. Students Islamic Movement of India. Movement of 15 Khordad, AKA Islamic Movement of Iran.

How many movements are there in Islam? Over five sections—on Sunni, Shia, Sufi, fundamentalist, and fringe Islamic movements—the authors provide historical overviews, analyses, and in-depth studies of large and small Islamic and related groups from all around the world.

Why do people dress up as La Catrina? La Catrina has become one of the most popular Mexican icons. In fact, it is very common to dress up as Catrina on the Day of the Dead. For this reason, she has become a symbol of miscegenation and spirituality in the country. Especially in Aguascalientes, this image is very loved by Mexicans.

Is La Catrina a skeleton? La Calavera Catrina was among the first of many animated skeleton characters Posada created to populate his tongue-in-cheek, pro-revolutionary illustrations. She was also the most popular and enduring. The chic, chapeau-wearing lady skull became a kind of national folk icon.

Who drew La Catrina? We know that the image most commonly known now as La Catrina was created by José Guadalupe Posada. We know this simply because Posada signed the printing plate on the lower right-hand side. But to date, no one knows for certain of the first appearance of the image.

Why is Catrina important in Day of the Dead? The Catrina stands as a central symbol of the Day of the Dead, representing the cycle of life and death. With her elegant attire and distinctive skull makeup, she embodies the idea that death is an integral part of life, to be acknowledged and celebrated.

What is the story behind the Catrina in Mexico? But the original purpose of La Catrina envisioned by its creator, Mexican printmaker and lithographer José Guadalupe Posada, was to critique bourgeois society during the late 19th-century dictatorship of Porfirio Díaz, when the extravagant silk attire of well-to-do Mexicans starkly contrasted with the harsh reality ...

What was La Catrina ashamed of? This original description of La Catrina refers to her as a "Garbancera", a nickname given to people of indigenous ancestry who were ashamed of their origins and tried to imitate the European-style while wearing lighter makeup to hide their brown skin.

Who is La Catrina What does she do in the film The Book of Life? In the movie, the modern Mexican icon (La Catrina) and the classic icon (Lady Death), are fused in a single role as the ancient Mayan goddess of death, ruling over one of the lands of the dead. The original songs "I Love You Too Much" and "The Apology Song" were co-written by Paul Williams.
